DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not).

Misnumbered claims 1 and 2 been renumbered as claims 4 and 5.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Claim 2 claims the use of shell and tube heat exchangers. It is unclear where this appeared in the application as originally filed. Applicants may not add any subject matter to the claims or specification that was not in the application as filed.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 4 and 5 are rejected as failing to define the invention in the manner required by 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph.

The claim(s) are narrative in form and replete with indefinite and functional or operational language. The structure which goes to make up the device must be clearly and positively specified. The structure must be organized and correlated in such a manner as to present a complete operative device. The claim(s) must be in one sentence form only. Note the format of the claims in the patent(s) cited.

The amended claims are in multiple sentence form and contain no positively claimed structure or method steps. The claims were also submitted in improper form. Claims in an amendment need to be preceded by a status identifier (originally presented, new, amended, or cancelled) in parentheses before the body of the claim. With the new claims, it is unclear if "A process...heating", which precedes claim 1, is intended to be part of the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 4, as best interpreted in light of the above clarity problems, is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Malhotra et al (2005/0013768, which was cited in the earlier Office Action).

Malhotra shows a system for purifying syngas with the gas producing auto-refrigeration using a Joule-Thomson valve. This is seen to be what applicant is claiming. In regard to claim 5, it is noted that the auto-refrigeration will also heat the stream used a refrigerant. No rejection was made for claim 5, however, as it cannot be determined what is being claimed (as the type of heat exchanger was improperly added- see above).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 10-24-2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The claims are still in multiple sentence form and do not clearly recite structure or method steps. Claims should not be a comparison between what applicant has invented and what is commonly available, but a one sentence description that clearly defines what applicant has invented. Malhotra seems to claim what applicant believes to be the invention, joule-Thomson expansion of a high pressure process stream to provide auto-refrigeration. It is, however, impossible to argue differences between Malhotra and applicant's claims, as applicant's claims do not contain positively recited structure or steps to compare to.

Conclusion

This action is a final rejection and is intended to close the prosecution of this application. Applicant's reply under 37 CFR 1.113 to this action is limited either to an appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or to an amendment complying with the requirements set forth below.

If applicant should desire to appeal any rejection made by the examiner, a Notice of Appeal must be filed within the period for reply identifying the rejected claim or claims appealed. The Notice of Appeal must be accompanied by the required appeal fee of $500.

If applicant should desire to file an amendment, entry of a proposed amendment after final rejection cannot be made as a matter of right unless it merely cancels claims or complies with a formal requirement made earlier. Amendments touching the merits of the application which otherwise might not be proper may be admitted upon a showing a good and sufficient reasons why they are necessary and why they were not presented earlier.

A reply under 37 CFR 1.113 to a final rejection must include the appeal from, or cancellation of, each rejected claim. The filing of an amendment after final rejection, whether or not it is entered, does not stop the running of the statutory period for reply to the final rejection unless the examiner holds the claims to be in condition for allowance. Accordingly, if a Notice of Appeal has not been filed properly within the period for reply, or any extension of this period obtained under either 37 CFR 1.136(a) or (b), the application will become abandoned.
